PHILLIES FIELD, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—Harry Hooper, the 1915 edition of Home Run Baker, gave Boston another world's baseball championship this afternoon with two home runs into the center field bleachers. The Californian came to bat in the ninth inning with the score tied at four and four, and sent the 1915 series into history with a terrific clout, which cleared the center field fence on the bounce by three feet. It was the fourth straight victory for Boston and the third victory which had been won in the ninth inning by one run.

The crowd swarmed down upon the field as Killifer, pinch hitting for Rixey, made the last out, and fought to get near the Boston bench, where Hooper was being mobbed by his joyful team-mates.

For fifteen minutes after the game the crowd surged around the Boston bench, clamoring for a sight of the new home run hero, but he was spirited away and the crowd was forced to depart without getting to him.

Phillies Batter Foster
Philadelphia lost as befitting champions. After the weakest hitting in a world's series, the Phillies suddenly found their batting eyes at the start of the game and bombarded Foster for nine hits, including a double and a home run.

Today's game was the first really championship game of the series. It was replete with dramatic moments, terrific hitting in the pinches, and clever fielding.

The Phillies started out in the first inning to overtake the Red Sox by bombarding Foster for two runs. Hooper, with his first homer evened up the count in the third inning, Philadelphia forced ahead again in the fourth on Luderus' homer. Boston tied it again in the eighth on Lewis' homer and Hooper's history-making wallop in the ninth was the grand finale to a sensational game. There was none of that mad rushing for seats today. An hour before the game time there were still several hundred seats unoccupied in the bleachers. The first two games saw the same seats filled at 10 o'clock. All of which proves again that moss grown wheeze that fickle fandom would rather cheer a winner than pay good money to shed tears with a loser.

It looked for a time as if there were to be no game. The engine which drew both principals from Boston, developed dyspepsia somewhere in the wilds of New Jersey and didn't make Philadelphia until shortly before noon.

The Phils came on the field as soon as they could hustle off the train and into their suits. The Red Sox didn't show up until almost one o'clock.

The crowd was rather apathetic today before the game—in marked contrast with its behavior last week. Even when Niehoff, who has yet to break into the hit column, slammed a ball during batting practice, into the right field fence, it exhibited only mild interest.

Governor Brumbaugh and a party of state officials attended today's game, occupying the same box that President Wilson and his fiancée used on Saturday.

At 1:50 Moran started Alexander warming up, and a few moments later

SALOON KEEPER GETS HEAVY FINE

O. O. Mahlum Pleads Guilty and Pays $150; Sensational Testimony Expected Today

Louis B. Sherwood, La Crescent, Minn., well known figure in several vagrancy trials in county court here, ran headlong into a barrel of trouble when he bought a pint of whiskey this afternoon for Charles Winters, Reserve, Wis., full blooded Indian.

A special Indian policeman here as witness in liquor selling cases in federal court sniffed the transaction between the redskin and Sherwood and watched them until the Indian received the bottle. The transaction took place on the street near the federal building.

Sherwood's case will probably be presented to the grand jury in quest of an indictment against the La Crescent man.

Saloonkeeper Fined

O. O. Mahlum, Caledonia street saloonkeeper, pleaded guilty before Judge A. L. Sanborn in federal court this morning to selling liquor to an Indian and was fined $150.

Sensational testimony was expected in federal court today in the trial of John P. Anderson, prominent merchant of Superior, Wis., charged with giving liquor to Maggie Foster, young Indian girl of that city.

United States District Attorney John A. Aylward was expected to show that Anderson had an ulterior motive in giving the Indian girl the liquor. If found guilty, Anderson may face a statutory charge in Superior.

Mrs. Anderson, the merchant's wife, and Miss Foster, a striking Indian type, sat in a corner of the court room.

The Austro-Germans still forged toward Nish, from the north. Three Bulgarian armies were striking at the Serbian rear.

The Serbians fought desperately to gain time. Help was promised them if they could hold out long enough. British were still landing at Salonika. French Premier Vivanti's pledge made it certain Gallic reinforcements would soon come. The Austrians took credit for the advance southward from Belgrade and the capture of Mount Lipar, but the statement said the Germans were driving the Serbians back from Semendria toward Posarevac.

The Montenegrins were reported increasingly active and sharp skirmishing was said to be in progress along their frontier.

SHIPPERS WIN BIG VICTORY UPSETTING DISASTROUS RATES

Proposed Advances Which Would Have Closed Northwest to Local Products Are Not Allowed

RATES WERE MORE THAN DOUBLED

Would Have Proved Serious Burden on Plows and Beer if Allowed to Stand

HEARING RESULTS IN DECISION

Interstate Commerce Commission Ruling Received Here After Trial Here Last May

Proposed advances in freight rates which local shippers claim would have barred La Crosse roofing manufacturers from the northwest market and proved a serious burden on agricultural implement and brewery interests here, were adjudged unreasonable and set aside in a ruling of the interstate commerce commission received today.

Rates More Than Doubled
A comparison of the present rates with those proposed by the railroads show that in some cases the advances were more than 100 per cent. When the proposed tariffs were published they were announced as effective January 10 and 11, 1915.

Immediate protest against the rates was entered by the La Crosse Shippers' association. The protest resulted in a postponement of the rates until November 10, in order to allow an investigation of their reasonableness by the interstate commerce. A hearing was held at La Crosse May 3, and the decision of the commission was reached October 5. Official notice that it was in every way favorable to the local interests was received by the shippers' association today.

The proposed changes were to apply to certain commodity rates between La Crosse and the Twin cities to Hastings, Duluth and Superior. They were as follows:

	Pres.	Pro.
Between La Crosse and Minneapolis, agricultural implements	10	15.1
Between La Crosse and Minneapolis, wagons and bobsleds	8 1-3	15.1
Between La Crosse and Minneapolis, agricultural implements and wagon stock	8 1-3	11.7
Between La Crosse and Minneapolis, beer	10	13.4
Between La Crosse and Hastings, Minn., beer	10	13.0
Between La Crosse and Minneapolis, leave trough and cond. pipe	8	16.8
Between La Crosse and Duluth-Superior, Wis., leave trough and cond. pipe	15	20.0
Between La Crosse and Minneapolis, iron roofing	6	13.4
Between La Crosse and Minneapolis, paper (bldg. and roof.) roofing, etc.	7 1-2	10.0

The decision of the interstate commerce commission received today is as follows:

"Upon consideration of the facts of record, we are of opinion that the proposed increased rates on the commodities here considered have not been justified, and an order will be entered requiring their cancellation."

"Order: the carriers responded herein and designated in said schedules are hereby notified and required to cancel on or before November 10th, 1915, the rates and charges for agricultural implements, wagons and bobsleds, agricultural implement and wagon stock, beer, leave trough and conductor pipe, iron roofing and paper, (building and roofing) and roofing, stated in the schedules specified in said orders of suspension."

WEBER FOUR MONTHS LATE WITH STORY OF HIS JUNE WEDDING

Deputy Sheriff John Weber and other relatives of George Weber, Milwaukee switchman, are recovering somewhat this afternoon from a shock administered to them when George nonchalantly announced that he had been married since June 12. He and Miss Ella Fuller, daughter of John F. Fuller, 1103 South Fourth street, were married June 12 in St. John's church on the North side, according to the details with which Mr. Weber supplied his astonished family. Mr. and Mrs. Weber intend to start housekeeping in the spring.

Allies Violated Greek Neutrality

Von Jagow Makes Statement When Questioned Concerning Analogy of Case With That of Belgium

English Deny The Comparison

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Answering the United Press interview with Herr von Jagow, in which the German foreign minister denounced the allies landing on Greek soil, a statement from British official source, was given me today, asserting that "at no time have the allies taken action in Greek territory that would be unwelcome to Greece," and going into questions of neutrality which promises to figure finally as the big issues of the European war.

The statement in part follows:
No Treaties Violated
"In the case of Greece there is no question of a violation of treaty obligations, since the neutrality of Greece is not guaranteed by any of the powers."

"The dispatch of allied troops to Greece was for the purpose of helping Serbia, the ally of Greece, against an unprovoked attack from Bulgaria, an eventuality in which Greece herself was bound by treaty to come to the aid of Serbia."

"It is impossible at the present moment to publish the confidential communications that have passed with Greece, but it may be taken as certain that at no time have the allies taken action in Greek territory that would be unwelcome to Greece."

Tam MacAdam In A Hielan' Fling

When Tam MacAdam, Galesville, to whom the shades of Bobby Burns owe many a pleasant recollection, suddenly entered a candy store in a Ford auto early this morning, the celebrated Scottish dancer no doubt cursed himself for a mollycoddle.

Accompanied by his brother, Robert MacAdam, and his nephew, Burt Marshall, Tam left the Corcoran hotel early today to run to Galesville, the storm having prevented his return yesterday. As the car, with Marshall at the wheel, neared the Bijou theater it became necessary to cross the street to avoid an approaching street car. The steering apparatus was balky. Mr. Marshall, unacquainted with the car, made the first turn with difficulty, and although he is a husky young man, he was unable to swing the car back at the curb. Too long he sought to steer it, and when his belated foot thrust at the brake and missed it the car headed for the Bijou Candy shop window and made it in two jumps.

The party escaped from a shower of plate glass and peanut brittle, more disgusted than shocked.

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—"The world's storm of indignation against Germany for invading Belgium is cant or 'schwindel,'" declared Foreign Minister Von Jagow today in an interview given the United Press, regarding the action of the allies in landing troops at Salonika in Greece.

I had asked the foreign office if the chancellor would give out Germany's position regarding the landing of troops in Greece. The foreign minister, Von Jagow, received me, the chancellor being absent, and at the conclusion of his statement, I asked if the final decision of the Balkans had brought about another psychological peace moment. He replied:

"You must ask Germany's enemies."

I inferred that Germany continues willing to consider peace if the allies make overtures. It was my impression further that the people believe that not only has the cause of England's entrance to the war been removed by the landing in Greece, but that the reasons for the allies' reported prolonging of the war have also been removed. During the course of half an hour's conversation with the foreign minister, the American situation was discussed. I

YOUTHS ARRESTED HERE CONNECTED WITH CAR MURDER?

Motor of Mill City Youths' Machine Captured Here from Verne Bergman's Machine?

DEPUTIES SAY NUMBER DEFACED

False Number Stamped on Machine Which the Pair Taken Here Said They Bought

Serious charges today deepened the web which Sheriff Otto Langum of Minneapolis is weaving about Victor Carlson and Edward Chamberlain. Mill City youths who were arrested in La Crosse and taken back to answer accusations of burglary. The Hennepin county sheriff believes that the motor of the car in which they were arrested here is the motor from the "murder car" of Verne E. C. Bergman, whose decapitated body was discovered September 8 in a grove near Buffalo, Minn.

Still Search for Car
The car never has been recovered, although police officials of several northwest states have been searching for it. The belief has been that Bergman was murdered by men who stole his car.

Taken from Prisoners
The motor, which Sheriff Langum says he believes was once in Bergman's car, was found in the nondescript machine taken from Carlson and Chamberlain when they were arrested here enroute to Milwaukee, where there had previously been shipped a quantity of stolen automobile tires and accessories. The sheriff says the pair have confessed stealing tires from the Minneapolis Tire Repair station, 1629 Hennepin avenue.

Number Apparently Altered
The number plate on the motor in the hybrid machine taken from the prisoners shows indications of having been filed and fresh numbers stamped on with a steel stencil. Traces of old figures partially obliterated were noticeable when a powerful light was used.

Discoveries Made by Deputies
Deputy Sheriffs A. A. Buck and Al Montour reported the following information concerning the motor in the car taken from Carlson and Chamberlain:

It is a 1915 Ford motor. Its present number is 528881. The manufacturers say they have no record of such a number.

Bergman's car was a 1915 model Ford.

Bergman's motor number was 698304.

The scars of the last four figures in the defaced original number look much like "8304."

Number Believed Changed
The sheriff said the number now on the motor undoubtedly was superimposed over the original numbers, after the plates had been filed to obliterate the original.

Further information gleaned by the deputies in talks with the prisoners is:

The United States also makes a concession to Germany by agreeing to amicable negotiations in the interpretation of treaties covering the Frye's loss. Germany previously agreed not to sink merchant ships carrying conditional contraband if the lives of the crew would be endangered.

Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

CONVICT LABOR IS URGED ON COUNTY BY STATE BOARD

Former Governor James O. Davidson Today Sends Letter to All Members of the County Board

All members of the La Crosse county board today received from former Governor James O. Davidson, president of the state board of control, a letter inviting them to employ convict labor in the construction of highways. Similar letters were sent by Davidson to members of the board in sixty-one counties of the state.

In his letter he says that convicts are employed in highway work in the states of Arkansas, Idaho, Louisiana, Maryland, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Oregon, Virginia, Utah, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, North Dakota, Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

The board believes that it can with advantage to the state and with advantage to the counties furnish such labor at $1.50 per day, ten hours to constitute a day's labor, says Governor Davidson in his letter.

"If this is not satisfactory to the counties the board will take contracts for construction of highways at a price per yard and we believe that we can take it at a price less per yard than any contractor. If this board can interest the different county boards of the state in this proposition, it will see to it that the convicts, who are thus employed, are properly safeguarded and that no community into which they are sent will be in any peril on account of their presence in such community. The convicts who will be placed out will be dressed in khaki suits and they will not have the appearance of convicts."

HILLSTROM WRITES HIS DEATH POEM

SALT LAKE CITY, Uta, Oct. 13. — Joe Hillstrom has written his death poem. The I. W. W. song-writer had given up hope today that President Wilson's intervention at the Swedish minister's request would avail anything. While the prison warden confiscated the poem, it was known to be a drastic arraignment of law, order and society.

Hillstrom's reprieve expires next Saturday when the pardons' board will consider his case again. The only thing that can save him from the firing squad, according to members of the board, is new evidence, of which no hint has yet been heard. If the board extends no clemency, Hillstrom will be re-sentenced by the district court. Execution within thirty or sixty days seemed certain today.

The governor and his family as well as the prominent buildings here are still guarded day and night, although there has been a falling off in the number of threatening letters received.

Why They Fire 101 Guns.

The origin of the English royal salute, which consists of 101 guns, is explained as follows: It was originally decreed that the sovereign should be saluted with 100 guns, but once when the duke of York, afterward William IV, was being greeted by the fleet the officers in charge lost count and ordered another round to be fired to make sure.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE LONG LANE

BY CATHERINE CRAMMER

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Tom Whiteford, once known among his friends as the gay and light-hearted, began to feel that his way of life lay through the proverbial long lane that has no turning. Furthermore, it seemed that behind every mile post by the roadside there lurked some form of hard luck. Just at the time when his business prospects seemed to justify his proposing to the dearest girl in the world, otherwise known as Betty Underwood, the war scare knocked him out of two of his biggest advertising contracts; a big firm at the last minute switched its contract to his least suspected competitor, and just as he had clinched the contract for a gigantic mail order campaign for another firm there came out a wordy postal ruling making it impossible to use postage stamps for the double purpose of stamping and sealing, without which Tom's unique mailing proposition lost one of its chief charms, and he could not interest the firm in any of his numerous suggestions for a substitute.

Soon after all these business mishaps he went for a week-end house party at Hillcrest Lodge, the home of Betty's bachelor uncle, George Wilson. There he was thrown still deeper into despair by seeing Betty accept with evident willingness the chivalric attentions of one Charles Arthur Mowbray, a tall, dark, dreamy-eyed young man, said to have returned but recently from a long stay in the orient. As the son of her uncle's old college chum, he was invited to Hillcrest Lodge, where his delineation of the legends of the orient was a chief entertainment feature for Betty and some of the other girls in the house party. Added to this young man's charm of appearance and conversation was the appealing way in which he occasionally made reference between heavy sighs to a tragic romance in his own life while in the orient.

"Another legend, I have no doubt," thought Tom when he heard the story. "When a good looking chap backs up his own tale of woe with a lot of romantic stuff about some faraway land it puts a halo around his head for every girl who listens to him."

The morose mood brought on by such reflections did not enable Tom to shine in comparison with the easy suave, flattering chivalry of Mowbray. And Betty, being young and pretty and fond of novelty and of flattery, was visibly impressed. It seemed to Tom that no matter where he turned he found this man with Betty—sitting out dances with her in the evening, walking in the garden with her in the morning, sitting beside her at luncheon, and at all times pouring out in that deep but subdued voice legends, legends, legends.

"I'll bet he's a crook for sure," said Jack Chisholm as they packed their suitcases Sunday night, ready for their return to town. "When a fellow purrs like a cat I always look out for cat's claws to show themselves sooner or later."

Tom refrained from the profane acquiescence he felt with merely, "Should not be surprised."

He had made up his mind to have a few minutes alone with Betty before he left, and he hurried downstairs after his packing to find her one of an interesting group listening to yet another legend of Mowbray's. When the story ended the talker was drawn into a conversation with his host and Tom lost no time in capturing Betty.

"I've scarcely had a glimpse of you, Betty," he said. "May I steal you away from the others long enough to show you the prettiest October moon on record?" Out on the broad porch Betty clasped her hands rapturously as she saw the great golden disk hanging just above the horizon and throwing weird shadows through the bare trees.

Women Save $5 Using Gasoline

Says It is so easy to dry clean and nothing shrinks, fades or wrinkles.

Save $5 to $10 by doing your own dry cleaning. Here is a simple and inexpensive way to clean and brighten children's coats, suits, caps, woolen garments, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, kid gloves and shoes, furs, neckties, ribbons, silks, satins, lace, yokes, silk shirtwaists, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it readily dissolves. Then put in the goods to be cleaned. After a little rubbing out they come looking as clean and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

Any woman can do home dry cleaning in a few moments at little cost and save lots of money. It is as simple and easy as laundering, and you can't make a mistake. Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline, and your druggist will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your home dry cleaning outfit.

horizon and throwing weird shadows through the bare trees.

"Oh, isn't it lovely?" she exclaimed. "Lovely enough to have an oriental setting instead of commonplace modern landscape gardening and architecture."

"Commonplace? Gee whiz, Betty," protested Tom, "look at that sweep of brown fields on the left and that mass of tree-studded hills on the right, and this big, comfy home on the highest hill of them all. Anything commonplace about it all?"

"There is a certain rugged beauty about it," agreed Betty, "but it doesn't suggest romantic legends like oriental lands must do."

"Oh, I don't know," said Tom, who had learned from his advertising work not to let any personal anger get in the way of landing a contract—and he realized that he was now trying for the most important contract he ever hoped to land. "Can't you imagine some Iroquois maiden and heap big hunter trysting here about? You know, we're too busy leading lives today to concern ourselves much with legendry, but in its own good time our land will have its legends."

"But isn't a pity that ours is such a prosy age?" asked Betty.

"Prosy? But is it? Modern men are fighting dragons and conquering difficulties as never before."

Betty did not reply and a moment later Tom continued, "The same old moon that shines on those faraway lands condescends to shine on ours, and not quite the same, but a better sort of love grows up in the hearts of our men for our women. Betty, I hadn't meant to tell you yet, but my heart is bursting with love for you. I'm fighting dragons for you every day. When I've conquered enough of them to take care of you safely, will you let me claim you?"

Betty's eyes were dreamy and her hands were unresisting as Tom took them in his own, but just as she began to lift her eyes to meet Tom's devouring gaze the hall door opened and the tall, slender figure of Mowbray emerged. With cat-like swiftness he saw the couple at the end of the porch, and with cat-like silence he approached until quite near them. Then in his purring voice he reminded Betty that she had promised to play his accompaniment while he sang "Beside the Shalamar."

Betty and her mother remained at Hillcrest after the other guests departed, and Monday evening after dinner, when the ladies had finished their coffee in the library, George Wilson lighted a fresh cigar and joined them there.

"Well, we've seen the last of our oriental guests, I hope," he began, and Betty shot him a surprised look from where she sat tossing her toes before the wood fire. "You see, Mowbray came into my office late to get local color for a novel in preparation, and while I saw at once that he was not without weaknesses, I didn't suspect that he was the degenerate I've since learned he is. His faultless manners were so like his father's that I assumed he had some of the deeper good traits of his father, and so invited him out here. His evident uneasiness when I mentioned Judge Morton's having recently come here from his home city convinced me that he wouldn't care to have Morton tell what he might know about his home life. I made it my business to make inquiries today about Mowbray from Judge Morton, who is a professional associate of mine." George Wilson flicked the ashes from his cigar into the ash tray on the arm of his chair.

"And were your suspicions well founded?" asked Mrs. Underwood. "Yes, and I mention it only because it will forewarn you and Betty not to be at home should he call. After spending his widowed mother's money Mowbray married a girl who had a snug little fortune. Their bridal trip to the orient, which was to equip him with the material his genius was later to weave into immortal poetry, used up most of the fortune and seriously impaired the health of the wife, who died shortly after their return. Soon after he married a widow of means, who kicked him out after supporting him in idleness for a while. Then he went back and lay around his mother's home until she died, and, with the money secured from the sale of her home he equipped himself for social conquest, doubtless with the expectation of inducing some other girl to devote her fortune to the development of his genius."

The telephone rang just then, and George Wilson answered it himself. Betty and her mother sat silently before the fire and heard Wilson's part of the conversation.

"Hello. Good evening, Mr. Mowbray. Yes, quite comfortable. Yes, Miss Underwood and her mother are both here, and I've just been telling them a tale told me today by Judge Morton, of whose ability to tell interesting tales you doubtless know. No, you're not interrupting; the story had been finished and our conclusions drawn, and there will be no sequel to it." The receiver clicked into its holder and George Wilson returned to his armchair by the fire. A few moments later he addressed Betty.

"Betty, I've been interested for years in Indian folklore, and my clients, the Brown and Martin Real Estate Company, have finally got a clear title to that large tract of land known as the Iroquois Triangle, and supposed to have been the scene of many a wild Indian escapade. They purpose to divide it into small tracts for residences and to enhance its value by weaving some of my Indian folklore into their advertising. Wouldn't you and your mother like to motor through that country with us tomorrow and help fit the folklore into the landscape, as it were?"

"Oh, we'd love it, wouldn't we, mother?" To which the mother replied in the affirmative, and asked how many others the party would include.

"Just Mr. Martin, of the real estate company, and Tom Whiteford, who nailed the contract today for the advertising."

And it was on that motor trip that Tom's long lane that had seemed to have no turning turned abruptly into a lane that led to success and happiness and Betty.

UNIQUE PROGRAM ARRANGED

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 13.—Illinois bankers have arranged a unique program for their convention tomorrow. "Only folks from the other side of the money counter" will make speeches.

The fishing industry of the United States is not nearly as great as some of the countries of Europe, but no country in the world has had the foresight to stock its inland waters as the United States has done.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. They cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

ANGLOMANIAC

In an editorial headed "A brighter outlook for Mexico," the New York Herald, welcoming President Wilson's acceptance of the theory that he who gives first promise of a "responsible government" shall have the countenance of the United States, says:

The turn-over is complete. It is as great as the difference between Mr. Bryan and Mr. Lansing. With it has come, as a matter of necessity, abandonment of the demand for elections and constitutionalism. Carranza must be accepted for just what he proclaims himself—an out-and-out dictator.

This from a public journal in a free land—this jubilation that a dictator shall rule a neighbor people. No such foolishness as constitution and elections!

Villa has stood for the constitution, free elections, protection of Americans. Carranza is to be recognized, not on his merits but because the majority of the A. B. C. countries favor him. This is Wilson's excuse for a reversal of his non-interference policy—an excuse to which there would be more point did not Brazil and Ecuador object to the recognition.

As to the Herald's conclusion that had this been done two years ago "two years of bloodshed and horrors would have been avoided" we shall see. We are not convinced that a Washington proclamation will put Villa out of commission. He still is capable of raising a bumper crop of Mexico's leading product—hell.

SEVENTEEN YEARS AGO

November 6, 1898, Mr. Usher's Chronicle announced:

At least 500 people yesterday witnessed the Winona Normal school aggregation of kickers go down before the local high school team, 16 to 5.

Other games: Harvard 10, Penn 0; Yale 10, Chicago A. A. 0; Princeton 5, West Point 0.

Afterthought and condescension, maybe, to mention those eastern colleges in the same breath, but then Dick Remp, who made the All-American, and Mr. Tourtellotte, who became a western mayor, were with the famous Cole, and so were not Harvard and Yale lucky to get a mention?

But that was incidental to the main squib. The significant thing that day about the smiling morning face of the barometer of Mr. Usher's political squalls was a group of "Prominent Wisconsin Club Women" whose pictures illuminated its first page. Of the group the face of Mrs. Charles Morris, Berlin, is most familiar. She was president when the convention of the state federation was held here then, seventeen years ago. She was present in the recent convention, and was cheered by her sister delegates.

One can't turn the pages without noting that "A fair sized audience greeted John J. Esch, candidate for congress, at La Crosse theater, last night," and that this "rally" was not as enthusiastic as would naturally be expected," but as the editorial page discloses that Mr. Usher, although turned gold democrat, was not yet republican, this was a generous notice. Being only a candidate, Mr. Esch was less a center of women's club interest than in the more recent convention.

But there! We're over the page and past political pitfalls. There were three La Crosse clubs in the state federation in 1898: the Fortnightly, the Women's club and the Art Class. That year saw their second state convention. Mrs. David R. Kendall made the address of welcome. Hers was the first photograph in another group picture showing Miss M. L. C. Tourtellotte, Miss Frances Sill and Mesdames Frank G. Tiffany, L. W. Foster and D. G. White. Still another group showed the three La Crosse presidents: Mrs. Charles H. Bunting, Art Class; Mrs. Mary Piper-Houck, La Crosse Women's club. Ellis was "there" with the half-tones.

Mrs. Robert M. La Follette was on the program, and Miss Russell (Mrs. Robert Whelpley) sang. Pasadena opened its doors for the reception of the visiting delegates. Other hostesses beside Mrs. Scott were Mesdames John J. Paul, Levi Withee, G. Van Steenwyk, J. C. Easton, B. E. Edwards, W. L. Osborne, J. S. Medary, F. G. Tiffany, Miss Jane Adams was here from Hull House. One picks this information at random from the breezy columns. That week were receptions and parties galore, and from the heart of the "Society Personals" out pops this familiar wheeze:

W. T. Irvine has received an elegant line of silver novelties, cut glass and other trinkets admired by ladies. All of it has a familiar sound—like yesterday. Really it wasn't far off. One frequently crossed the track of a saw-mill hereabout in those times, although the species was presumed to be extinct in the vicinity, but outside of that we were quite civilized.

What He Wanted

The little South American republic was having another revolution. But the people didn't worry; they were used to it. In fact, a ball was being held to celebrate it in the capital.

The president was just tangoing with a dusky belle, when the alarm came: "The enemy!" The president made a bolt, and the enemy followed. Over the garden wall, across two squares, past churches, shops, the mad chase went. The president, already breathless with dancing, had to give in at last. "Spare me—spare me!" he gasped, holding up his hands.

The rebel chief held a revolver to his head.

"Now," he said, sternly, "just tell me who taught you that new step!"—Answers.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Mother of Men
Mother of men, what will you say
When they come crawling home,
Beaten and battered and torn and sick
And all their mouths afoam?
Mother of men, what have ye done
In all the years gone by
But take them to your hungry breast
And bid them there to lie?

Mother of men, what will ye say
When they come sweeping on Triumphant out of the burning fight
To the golden throne of dawn?
Mother of men, as ye have smiled
Through all the ages, still Ye'll smile and lay your hands on them
Who scorn and treat ye ill!

Mother of men, what will ye do
When they come begging by
With threadbare coat and flapping shoe
And a bloody, bloody eye?
Mother of men, on these as on
The fair and sweet ye'll gaze,
And heal their wounds and give them food
And keep them all their days!
—Folger McKinsey, in Baltimore Sun.

Planned to Reciprocate
"Well, what can I do for you, Sam?" asked Jones as the colored waiter who usually served him at the restaurant entered his office.
"I got a chance to change mah position, boss. Kin yo' say a good word fo' me? Say I's honest and s'ch."

Live and Learn
With a sleepy yawn the guest, who had arrived at the hotel on the previous night, limped into the dining room for his breakfast. He did his best with the bacon and potatoes, says Tit-Bits, but gave up at last and went to sleep on a sofa in the corner of the room. When he awoke he found the hotel proprietor standing near, looking at him curiously.
"Didn't you get enough sleep last night?"
"Didn't I get enough sleep?" repeated the other, sitting up suddenly as though galvanized into life. "Tell me one thing: What on earth do you stuff your mattresses with in this place?"
"Stuff 'em with? Why, the very best straw it is possible to get in the whole of this country."

"Ah, now I understand."
"Understand what?"
"Why, where that straw came from that broke the camel's back."

Well Done, George!
It had been their first separation, and during one week the young husband had sent his dear little wife 10 letters, 15 picture postcards and 4 telegrams.

Why, then, this touch of coldness in her welcome on his return?
"Dearest," he whispered, as he drew her to his manly bosom, "what is wrong? What have I done to upset my little duckywopsy?"
"Oh, George," she replied in broken tones, "you didn't send me a kiss on your seventh letter!"

George thought like lightning for a moment before he replied:
"I know I didn't, pet, but I had steak and onions that night for supper, and you wouldn't like me to kiss you after eating onions, would you?"—Chicago Herald.

Real Generosity
After six months of widowhood, Lizzie consented to enter the state of matrimony again, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Shortly after she was led to the altar her former mistress met her on the street. Lizzie was dressed in deepest mourning.

"Why, Lizzie," exclaimed the other in great surprise, "for whom are you in black?"
"It's for poor Mike, my furrst husband," answered Lizzie. "When he died Ol wuz that poor Ol couldn't, but Ol said if Iver Ol could Ol would, an' me new man Dan is as generous as a lord, mum!"

Artistic Longings
A well known assaiyist and connoisseur of New York attended recently an artistic tea in Washington square.

Near-artists of all sorts—near-poets, near-sculptors, near-painters, and near-novellists—attended the tea. The ladies wore djibbabs of green burlap. The gentlemen wore sandals. The collation was vegetarian, of course.

Looking calmly at that mass of freckles, he said, with a smile:
"Artist's longings consist invariably, it seems, of long hair, long teeth and long faces—everything but long purses, in fact."—Washington Star.

TIDE HAMPER DIVERS
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 13.—A strong tide today hampered divers from the cruiser San Diego who were attempting to locate the body of Lieut. W. D. Taliaferro, army aviator, who plunged 1,800 feet to his death in the bay off here yesterday.

LANSING GETS EVIDENCE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Secretary of State Lansing has announced the receipt from the British embassy of a memorandum outlining evidence upon which the British prize court confiscated American meat cargoes valued at $15,000,000.

At the uttermost end of the sand-bar Kazan and Gray Wolf rolled themselves into balls and thrust their heads under their bodies. The fire was very near now. The roar of it was like that of a great cataract, with now and then a louder crash of falling trees. The air was filled with ash and burning sparks, and twice Kazan drew forth his head to snap at blazing embers that fell upon and seared him like hot irons.

Close along the edge of the stream grew thick green brush, and when the fire reached this, it burned more slowly, and the heat grew less. Still, it was a long time before Kazan and Gray Wolf could draw forth their heads and breathe more freely. Then they found that the finger of sand reaching out into the river had saved them. Everywhere in that triangle between the two rivers the world had turned black, and was hot underfoot. The smoke cleared away. The wind changed again, and swung down cool and fresh from the west and north. The fisher-cat was the first to move cautiously back to the forests that had been, but the porcupines were still rolled into balls when Gray Wolf and Kazan left the sand-bar. They began to travel up-stream, and before night came, their feet were sore from hot ash and burning embers.

The moon was strange and foreboding that night, like a spatter of blood in the sky, and through the long silent hours there was not even the hoot of an owl to give a sign that life still existed where yesterday had been a paradise of wild things. Kazan knew that there was nothing to hunt, and they continued to travel all that night. With dawn they struck a narrow swamp along the edge of the stream. Here beavers had built a dam, and they were able to cross over into the green country on the opposite side. For another day and another night they traveled westward, and this brought them into the thick country of swamp and timber along the Waterfound.

And as Kazan and Gray Wolf came from the west, there came from the Hudson's Bay post to the east a slim dark-faced French half-breed by the name of Henri Loti, the most famous lynx hunter in all the Hudson's Bay country. He was prospecting for "signs," and he found them in abundance along the Waterfound. It was a game paradise, and the snow-shoe rabbit abounded in thousands. As a consequence, the lynxes were thick, and Henri built his trapping shack, and then returned to the post to wait until the first snows fell, when he would come back with his team, supplies and traps.

And up from the south, at this same time, there was slowly working his way by canoe and trail a young university zoologist who was gathering material for a book on The Reasoning of the Wild. His name was Paul Weyman, and he had made arrangements to spend a part of the winter with Henri Loti, the half-breed. He brought with him plenty of paper, a camera and the photograph of a girl. His only weapon was a pocket-knife.

And meanwhile Kazan and Gray Wolf found the home they were seeking in a thick swamp five or six miles from the cabin that Henri Loti had built.

CHAPTER XI.
Always Two by Two.

It was January when a guide from the post brought Paul Weyman to Henri Loti's cabin on the Waterfound. He was a man of thirty-two or three, full of the red-blooded life that made Henri like him at once. If this had not been the case, the first few days in the cabin might have been unpleasant, for Henri was in bad humor. He told Weyman about it their first night, as they were smoking pipes alongside the redly glowing box stove.

"It is damn strange," said Henri. "I have lost seven lynx in the traps, torn to pieces like they were no more than rabbits that the foxes had killed. No thing—not even bear—have ever tackled lynx in a trap before. It is the first time I ever see it. And they are torn up so bad they are not worth one half dollar at the post. DON'T SUFFER WITH WINTER ECZEMA

This irritating and exasperating malady can be relieved with
S. S. S.

Winter Eczema, sometimes called TETTER, is one of the many varieties of the irritating and tormenting disease known as Eczema. A deep-seated blood disease that is so often confused as a Skin Disease. Don't think that you can rid yourself of it by washing with medicated soaps or medicated lotions. You will save both your time and money by leaving them alone. Winter Eczema is seemingly dead during the hot months, but with the advent of cold weather it comes to life with renewed vigor. The head, feet and hands are the parts most often attacked, though it sometimes appears on other parts of the body, the skin hardens, cracks open and bleeds, while the itching and burning is at times almost unbearable. Scratching only makes it worse, sores and scabs forming where the skin is broken.

In this form of Eczema brownish white crusts sometimes form which scale off in fine particles, leaving the skin raw and inflamed. It is especially painful and severe when confined to the hands, which often become so badly affected that the sufferer is unable to perform the lightest work. This, like all other types of Eczema, is due to the acid poisons in the blood and not to local causes. The trouble is more than skin deep, and washes, soaps, powders and salves nor anything else applied to the surface cannot possibly do more than soothe the burning and itching or relieve temporarily the inflammation and pain.

It is the acids thrown off by the blood and which are forcing their way through the pores that cause the skin to harden, crack and bleed, and produce the irritation and soreness. S. S. S. neutralizes these acid poisons and cleanses the blood of all irritating substances and humors, and does it promptly and effectually. Beware of imitations—refuse substitutes. S. S. S. purifies and invigorates the thin acid blood, and builds up the entire system; then the unsightly eruptions heal; the skin becomes smooth and soft, and all signs of the Eczema disappear. Get S. S. S. from your druggist, and write for our special book on skin diseases—free. Write the Swift Specific Company, Medical Department, Room 17, Atlanta, Ga.

—never one. They follow my trap-line an' eat the rabbits I catch. They leave the fisher-cat, an' the mink, an' the ermine, an' the marten; but the lynx—sacre an' damn!—they jump on him an' pull the fur from him like you pull the wild cotton balls from the burn-bush! I have tried strychnine in deer fat, an' I have set traps and deadfalls, but I can not catch them. They will drive me out unless I get them, for I have taken only five good lynx, an' they have destroyed seven."

This roused Weyman. He was one of that growing number of thoughtful men who believe that man's egotism, as a race, blinds him to many of the more wonderful facts of creation. He had thrown down the gauntlet, and with a logic that had gained him a nation-wide hearing, to those who believed that man was the only living creature who could reason, and that common sense and cleverness when displayed by any other breathing thing were merely instinct. The facts behind Henri's tale of woe struck him as important, and until midnight they talked about the two strange wolves.

"There is one big wolf an' one smaller," said Henri. "An' it is always the big wolf who goes in an' fights the lynx. I see that by the snow. While he's fighting, the smaller wolf makes many tracks in the snow just out of reach, an' then when the lynx is down or dead, it jumps in an' helps tear it into pieces. All that I know by the snow. Only once have I seen where the smaller one went in an' fought with the other, an' then there was blood about that was not lynx blood; I trailed the devils a mile by the dripping."

During the two weeks that followed, Weyman found much to add to the material of his book. Not a day passed that somewhere along Henri's trap-line they did not see the trails of the two wolves, and Weyman observed that—as Henri had told him—the foot-prints were always two by two, and never one by one. On the third day they came to a trap that had held a lynx, and at sight of what remained Henri cursed in both French and English until he was purple in the face. The lynx had been torn until its pelt was practically worthless.

Weyman saw where the smaller wolf had waited on its haunches, while its companion had killed the lynx. He did not tell Henri all he thought. But the days that followed convinced him more and more that he had found the most dramatic exemplification of his theory. Back of this mysterious tragedy of the trap-line there was a reason.

Why did the two wolves not destroy the fisher-cat, the ermine and the marten? Why was their feud with the lynx alone?

One can't meet with big successes every day. So just be patient.

SCORNFUL TWENTY-THREE WILL GIVE A PARTY AT WHICH GIRLS ARE BARRED

"Boys have such AWFUL manners, you know." So the twenty-three boys in the seventh grade of the Franklin school were not invited when the seven girls in the room gave a party yesterday afternoon for Miss Christine Nelson, their teacher. Only Miss Nelson, Miss Jennie Cabanis, who teaches the "sixth B," Miss Elizabeth Gillespie, who directs the "sixth A," with the seven hostesses, gathered about the three tables which were placed together in the front of the seventh grade room for the feast.

The seven hostesses were Ruth Munson, Agnes Bonner, Edith Falk, Ruth Burmaster, Clara Johnson, Mabel Chalsma and Edith Osterhout. There was singing, and reciting, and dancing. Also there were sandwiches and cake the hostesses brought from home and smuggled into the cloak-room while Miss Nelson wasn't looking.

But the twenty-three who were cast into outer darkness will have their revenge. Two of their leaders sat in a tree whose branches are close to the windows of the seventh grade room and jeeringly supervised yesterday's party. Today they announced:

"We're gonna give a Halloween party for the teachers. And there can't any of the girls come."

Influenza or Grip

Dr. John M. Mayhew describes Influenza or La Grippe as a contagious disease, the symptoms of which are sometimes so obscure that a "multitude of sins" are sometimes laid under the diagnosis. It often comes on with a marked chill, or possibly by several hours of chilly sensations accompanied by sneezing, which is soon followed by a distressing cough and sweating, with pain in all parts of the body. Unless checked the disease develops into bronchopneumonia or a croupous pneumonia. The patient should be put to bed or compelled to take absolute rest in an easy chair, the diet should be light, but should consist of nourishing food and one Anti-Kamnia Tablet should be taken every two or three hours. This treatment will usually break up the disease in a remarkably short time. Anti-Kamnia Tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also successful for Headaches, Neuralgia and All Pain.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY BALKS SHERIFF

WAUPUN, Wis., Oct. 13.—Angered because District Attorney Edward Kelley of Green Lake county will not issue a warrant for the arrest of the man who he believes murdered Captain and Mrs. Robert W. Mueller at Pickaway lake two weeks ago, Chief of Police H. G. Crosse today went to Marquette, Wis., to obtain affidavits from witnesses, when he will lay the evidence before the attorney general. Chief Crosse declared that he believed he had enough evidence to convict the man under suspicion, but that Mr. Kelley would not issue the warrant. The only thing the chief would say about his evidence was that the man was intoxicated at the time he killed the couple.

Herbert was asked to stay for dinner. His hostess, knowing his fondness for chicken, laughingly told him they were going to have chicken for dinner. Herbert asked to see the fowl, and she took him to the kitchen and opened the oven door. To Herbert's surprise, he beheld a roast of beef. Then he said sadly: "I'm afraid I can't stay; I only like chickens wiv legs on."

Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the U. S. Public Health Service Says:

"I WANT TO WARN YOU AGAINST THE CRAZE PEOPLE IN THIS COUNTRY HAVE FOR WHITE FLOUR. THE WHITEST FLOUR IS NOT THE BEST; IT IS NOT THE PUREST; IT IS ONLY THE DEAREST, AND WHEN YOU BUY IT YOU BUY LOOKS AND NOT NOURISHMENT. IN ORDER TO MAKE IT WHITE, SOME OF THE MOST NOURISHING AND ESSENTIAL COMPONENTS OF THE NATURAL WHEAT HAVE BEEN TAKEN AWAY."

These "nourishing and essential components" are the priceless mineral phosphates of the grain, known as the "tissue salts," indispensable for perfect health of body, brain and nerves

Everywhere food scientists and physicians are sounding a like note of warning, for a host of ills is following the pernicious practice of casting out these elements in the milling process, and that, simply to make the flour look white and pretty. Neurasthenia, anemia, Bright's disease, constipation, rickets, and a lowered resistance against disease in general, are some of these ills.

More and more thinking people are waking up to this evil. There's a way out.

THE GAMES, HE SAYS,
ARE DREADFULLY TAME
ALTHOUGH OLD GABBY HIT
(Written for the United Press.)
BY BERTON BRALEY.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—Sound it in Ascalon, shout it in Gath, that fortune has granted one swat to Cravath; a dozen times Gabby has stood at the bat and gathered one swat to his credit thereat, a dozen times Gabby has fanned or popped except for that one little bingle he copped, but when, on the thirteenth occasion, he stood, the horsehide was met by the hard-driven wood and a lovely three bagger to deep center soared—then Luderus singled and Gabby he scored. But one little run will not conquer for you when the other team happens to finish with two!
The first Boston tally transpired and occurred when Hooper drove Barry clear home in the third, and the second one came in the sixth, we would state, when Lewis brought Hoblitzell over the plate.
(That couplet, considered as verse, is a crime, for we put "we would state" in to make the thing rhyme.)
The Phillies in this, the fourth game of the lot, displayed much more strength in the way that they swat, for they gathered in seven good bingles off Shore, while Boston from Chalmers had only one more, and the fact of their hitting converted this bout into something that almost made some of us shout!
But, oh, I am so weary of the safe and careful ball; these teams seem both so leary of a gambling chance at all, they stick to solid "sanity" and seldom venture stunts to set the massed humanity to roaring all at once.
They play with calm propriety according to the dope, their game has no variety, no wide and thrilling scope, they sacrifice religiously with that,
the army game, until it grows prodigiously dependable—and tame.
I like the play that's glamorous with unexpected skits, that make the grandstand clamorous and give the bleachers fits, that scorn the plans laborious and precedents of yore and make the contest glorious with tricks not played before!
Oh, for the breathless daringness of Cobb of Brave Detroit, for Wagner's fine "uncaringness" or Matty's brain adroit!
You cannot go delirious at what THESE two teams do, they haven't,
in this "serious" pulled any stuff that's new.
But maybe change of scenery will bring about a shift and far from Boston beany this heavy cloud will lift, perhaps the rush and tensy of William Penn's demesne will conquer this propensity—if you know what I mean!
Perhaps they'll cease to quiet us with games of "safety first" and let us all be riotous and yell until we burst.
Perhaps they won't—perhaps they will.
But, Lord, I like to get a thrill.

AD BEATS BELMONT BUT WALLACE IS

Ex-Champ Is Promised a Fight with the Nebraskan
at Opening Show Here Friday
Ad Wolgast, who appears in La Crosse Friday night with "Young" Wallace in the main bout of the opening show of the Kanna A. C., is in Chicago today, fresh from a victory over Gene Belmont in eight rounds at Memphis Monday night.
If comparison has anything to do with dope, the scrap here should be a pipkin. Wallace beat Belmont six months ago in Nebraska. Now, both winners are to meet in a local ring.
Wallace cancelled a fight for Friday night at Lincoln for the express purpose of nailing a chance at Wolgast, whom, he is confident, he can beat.
He thinks he can repeat victories over such men as Jimmy Fitzgerald and Kid Harris, Jerry Dalton,
"Young" McGuire, Yankee Rhue, Jimmy Fox, Percy Kove, Frankie White, Paddy O'Hearn and Steve Ketchel.

WE ALL WISH WE WERE BASEBALLERS BOSTON, Oct. 13.—The world's baseball title will mean a winter pot boiler of $3,806.08 to each of the twenty-three players on the winning team. Each of the twenty-three men who play with or inhabit the dugout of the losers, will get $2,537.38, according to the best available figures in the hands of the clubs this afternoon.
Total players' shares of the receipts, it was announced, is $145,899.55.
This amount is divided sixty and forty, the champions taking the long end.

PHILS' BATS ALL THAT COULD SAVE
THE WORLD'S TITLE
Job Appeared Hopeless Considering the Pitching Dished Up by Carrigan
BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—
Only a sudden avlanche of solid,
run-getting hitting can prevent the world's baseball championship from going back to Boston.
The weather today for what many believe would be the last game of the series, was as near perfect as a kindly weather man could manufacture.
The sun was on the job early and was getting stronger as long-time drew near. It was Alexander again today, just as it was Alexander on the first day, and again on Monday.
Mayer and Chalmers have failed to deliver, Rixey is uncertain. Besides, the Red Sox murder left-hand pitching. Alexander appeared the only chance—and a bad one at that from the way these Bostonians are walloping that old onion.
Against Alexander it seemed probable Carrigan would pit George Foster, the diminutive little westerner, who, single-handed, won Saturday's game. There were rumors about that Carrigan was going to give "Babe" Ruth a chance in this last game, but Foster generally was favored for the job.
The Red Sox, individually and collectively, are out to wind up their work today. They have a confidence born of beating every pitcher Moran has sent against them.
"We're going to wind it up," said Duffy Lewis, the series' individual star. "I want to get back to California and so does Harry Hooper and Dutch Leonard. If Foster pitches today one run is all he needs to win and we'll give him that in a hurry."
Spectators who have witnessed the entire series have marveled at the lack of "fight" shown by the Phillies. Time and again in every game the winning runs have been waiting on the paths without evoking any great burst of enthusiasm from the Philadelphia players. True, they have lost each of the three games by one run, but they can consider themselves fortunate in getting by so easily.
The Phils have a fairly good alibi at that. Never in the history of the autumnal classic has a team faced such pitching as the Phils have been facing this series.

NORMAL EXPECTS HARD GOING WITH
ST. MARY'S MEN
Stiffer Battling Anticipated at the Hands of the Winona Collegians Another Winona aggregation will journey down the Mississippi to give the La Crosse normal battle for pigskin honors next Saturday. This time La Crosse will have St. Mary's as its opponents, and a closer struggle than that of the last week is anticipated.
St. Mary's, being a college, has more men left over from year to year than the average normal school.
This Winona team last season held the strong Keewatin academy bunch to practically the same score that the Prairie du Chien lads were able to make against the local fellows. In view of this fact, if the two teams are anywhere near their last year's calibre, a close struggle should result.
Strum and his followers are not elated over their easy affair of last week but are bucking down in anticipation of stiffer opposition which will undoubtedly be put up by St.
Mary's college.

BAD WEATHER DOES

FOOTBALLERS IN Red and Black Warriors
Work Hard in Preparation of Winona Saturday
Some Winona records:
1907—La Crosse, 15-0.
1908—La Crosse, 2-0, safety.
1909—La Crosse, 5-3.
1910—Tie, 0-0.
1911—No Game.
1912—Winona, 12-0.
1913—La Crosse, 2-0, safety.
1914—La Crosse, 7-3.
Inclement weather has not daunted the spirits of the Red and Black football men, and regardless of rain, storm and wind, each night sees the full quota out for practice. Those laid up with injuries walk the sidelines, intent on the game or signal practice in progress. The competition with which the first squad has to deal each night when bucking the second team, is slowly but surely becoming more stubborn and harder to beat. In a long half Monday night, only two touchdowns were scored against the varsity, and Coach Puckett avers that before the season is over, the tables may turn.

WINONA SATURDAY
On Saturday the season for the high school opens in earnest and from then on the team plays every Saturday until Thanksgiving. It is a stiff schedule for the boys, but constitutes one of the best the school has ever had.
The team goes to Winona this Saturday. The locals' prospects are bright for a victory, and already a delegation is preparing to accompany the team up river.
New Plays Worked Out
A series of new plays is being worked out by Coach Puckett for the varsity which are due to be sprung in scrimmage with the regulars some time in the near future. The idea to score has enthused the seconds to adopt strategy in the form of new formations and rapid-fire plays, hoping thereby to get by with the necessary yards to the goal.

FOOTBALL PLAYER KILLED

Rheumatism depends on an acid in the blood, which affects the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive process.

LAST SESSION LAW GIVES BIG TOOL TO BOB LA FOLLETTE

Measure Forbidding Secret Pledging of Candidates Will Be Used to Smoke Out Opponents

BANCROFT TO OPPOSE SENATOR?
John M. Whitehead of Janesville Is Also Strongly Urged for the Contest

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13.—Close friends of Senator La Follette seem to be elated over a law passed at the last session of the legislature forbidding the secret pledging of candidates for office. It is said that Senator La Follette will use this law to the utmost to "smoke out" his opponents on political questions on which they might otherwise become tacitly pledged, if there was not a law to prevent it.

Just who will be the candidates to oppose Senator La Follette still remains a mystery. There are some who believe that Levi H. Bancroft of Richland Center, formerly attorney general of the state and a known conservative leader may announce himself. Bancroft was a candidate in the primaries against Morris and McGovern two years ago but was defeated. Again the name of John M. Whitehead of Janesville, who has been prominent in conservative political circles for a decade, is mentioned. His name is strongly urged by T. J. Cunningham of Chippewa Falls, the editor of a paper in that city.

Senator La Follette professes not to be worrying over the outlook. Evidently he believes that the early bird catches the worm, for La Follette is at his office at work every morning before 7 o'clock. Asked if he still intended to make a speaking campaign this fall he said that he had devoted himself to a study of conditions in Wisconsin; had practically completed his speech and would be on the stump shortly. Governor Philipp and his friends frankly admit that they will be glad when La Follette gets started because they want to hear what he has to say, intimating that there may be things to be said in reply.

The whole atmosphere is becoming politically surcharged and the La Follette opening speech will be the fuse to touch off the first explosion.

So persistent have been the messages urging Governor Philipp to forsake his ambitions of going to the senate that it is now claimed that he has practically concluded to announce himself.

MANY ACCIDENTS FROM POOR LIGHT

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13.—How poor light and poor ventilation in factories produce accidents and physical unfitness is the subject of a paper for presentation to the safety round tables of Wisconsin cities by J. D. Beck, chairman of the Wisconsin industrial commission.

"One of the big insurance companies," Mr. Beck said, "recently made an investigation of 91,000 industrial accidents and found nearly 23,000 of them due directly or indirectly to poor light. Translating this into dollars and cents on the basis of the average cost per accident in this state, it means that the employers insured in this company are annually paying between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 for accidents due to poor light."

ERTLE BEATS PAPPAS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—Johnny "Kewpie" Ertle, champion of all St. Paul bantamweights, and claimants of Kid Williams' championship, gained a decision over Jimmy Pappas of Atlanta, in their eight round bout here last night. The fight was a tough slugger match with very little science and Ertle's stamina enabled him to pile up advantage in the sixth, seventh and eighth round.

Lime Starvation Causes Tuberculosis

In the Medical Record (New York) of December 18, 1909, Dr. John F. Russell says: "The condition which is recognized as preceding the active development of tuberculosis in the adult may be considered as due to lime starvation. Among inorganic substances lime salts appear to be of special physiological importance, but if the salts are not in organic combination, it is difficult to suppose that the cells can appropriate them for food."

Years of widespread use confirm our belief that the success of Eckman's Alterative in tuberculosis is due largely to its content of lime, in such combination with other valuable ingredients as to be easily appropriated by the cells.

Doubtless this has had much to do with the results in many cases which appear to have yielded to it. As it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try. Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia. Sold by George E. Mariner, Chas. E. Beyschlag and leading druggists.

Don't be bilious, constipated, sick, with breath bad and stomach sour.

Tonight sure! Take Cascarets and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up with your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right and feeling fine. Get rid of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, furred tongue, sour stomach, bad colds. Clear your skin, brighten your eyes, quicken your step and feel like doing a full day's work. George, New Orleans, lawyer, banker and publisher, is planned by District Attorney Zabel when George is placed on trial for bigamy. The convention will be called to order in district court on October 21 when George is arraigned for his preliminary hearing.

PLAY THAT SWAYED U. S. LEGISLATION HERE IN THE FILMS

In a recent interview concerning "Wormwood," her greatest work visualized as a notable screen-drama by William Fox, Miss Corelli said: "I am glad that, as a distinguished American statesman recently wrote me my book 'Wormwood' has resulted in the prohibition of the green poison, abstinence into America. This is a great thing to have accomplished, to have saved a noble nation from one of the most malignant curses of modern times—the most crying evil that exists in France. I have reason to love America for the sake of the many friends whose writings have won for me there; friends who cor-faces I have never seen, but whom I seem familiarly to know through the kindly written expression of their thoughts. With respect to the present story, which I trust may help to rouse public attention to a pernicious evil which is gradually spreading over all the world, I believe most intelligent Americans who have visited Paris will read it with more or less anxious interest. It was, I think, a famous American senator who quite recently wrote a long and exhaustive practical account of incalculable mischief wrought by the poison-craze whose dire effects on one individual I have attempted to depict; and if one or two more leaders among thinkers, physiologists and scientists would raise their voices to aid in denouncing this fatal brain-degradation and bringing it well before the consideration of those who are the heads of authority in France, it might be checked in its destructive progress, and, with a little earnest and decisive work, be stamped out altogether, as a disease is stamped out by perfect sanitation. In this hope I have written 'Wormwood,' in this spirit I trust it may be received."

WOULD PROHIBIT TYPHOID HANDLERS OF MILK SUPPLY

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13.—Because some persons who have suffered with typhoid fever become chronic typhoid carriers, several cities of the state are contemplating the adoption of an ordinance prohibiting suspected persons from handling milk or milking utensils. The cities of Columbus and Grantsburg, where typhoid carriers have been located in the past, have asked the state board of health for information of the probable terms that such an ordinance should contain. A tentative ordinance has been drafted and submitted to the attorney general for an opinion as to its legality.

Traveled To Germany With A Bottle of Peruna

Everybody Who Is Troubled With Catarrh Should Take Peruna

Mr. August Haase, St. Anthony, DuBois Co., Indiana, writes: "I was troubled much with catarrh for several years. I was advised to take Peruna and used two bottles of it, which did me much good. I decided to see my old home in Germany again, after an absence of forty years, and bought a bottle of Peruna to take while on my way. Whenever I would take Peruna and so was very well while going over. I would advise every one who crosses the ocean to take Peruna along. I was in Germany nine months, and during that time had no attacks. I was then sixty-six years old. Last winter I took cold and got catarrh of the head. I took Peruna and was helped. Everybody who is troubled with catarrh should take Peruna."

Another letter: "I followed your good advice and took one bottle of Peruna. It helped me, then I bought another one and used only a part of it. I am rid of the catarrh and thank you very much for your good advice. I will always keep Peruna in the house and if I hear of any one suffering from catarrh, I certainly will recommend your medicine."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

SPOTLIGHTS

"LADY LUXURY"

Joseph Herbert who adds to the gaiety of nations by his clever work as a comedian in that successful musical comedy "Lady Luxury" which comes to the La Crosse Theater Monday, October 18, says that if he ever enters the producing end of the theatrical game he will confine himself solely to producing farces and comedies but that before he makes a production will attach to his pay roll a half dozen people who possess good hearty laughs. Herbert believes that if you had several good laugh leaders in every audience all comedies and farces would go better.

"You may not have noticed it," says Herbert, "but it takes time to get an audience started laughing, no matter how funny the show or the players. The attitude of nearly every audience is that it must not be shown, some more so than others. That is where my hired laugh producers would come in. They would be required to laugh right from the start, whenever a funny line or situation called for a laugh. Their laughter would start the audience going and once your spectators get started you have no trouble in keeping them going. It is to start them going that causes you the worry, particularly the actor."

ANIMAL DISEASE THREATENS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—George F. Stackpole, 71 year old lawyer of Riverhead, L. I., still has a chance to day in his fight with anthrax, a deadly animal disease practically unknown to human beings. This was the verdict of Bellevue hospital physicians early today following a third injection of a new serum to combat the anthrax.

TO REPRESENT POPE

ROME, via Havre, Oct. 13.—Archbishop Petrelli, apostolic delegate to the Philippines, will represent the pope at the mikado's coronation, it was learned on good authority today.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing it at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one stroke at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes as beautifully dark, glossy and abundant.

SLAVS AGAIN ON OFFENSIVE SAYS PETROGRAD REPORT

Important Gains Have Been Made In Galicia After Crossing River

PETROGRAD, Oct. 13.—Russia was vigorously on the offensive again today against the Austrians. Important Muscovite gains had been made in Galicia.

Having crossed the Strypa river the czar's forces were driving the enemy before them in disorder. The Austrians were in flight rather than retreat. Several thousand of them, with many cannon and quantities of munitions, had been captured.

To the northward, gains, though less important than in Galicia, were reported to have been made against the Germans. Furious fighting still progressed in the Dvinsk region.

FRESH DRIVE BY ALLIES EXPECTED

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 13.—A fresh heavy Franco-British drive against the German front in the Artois and Champagne and perhaps elsewhere along the line was momentarily expected today.

It was understood to be the allies' plan to keep the kaiser too busy in the west to push his Balkan campaign. Meanwhile the Serbians are being reinforced.

Corn and oats were up with wheat. Buying was strong in both these grains.

CARDINAL WANTS
ALL ACQUAINTED

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13. — The Daily Cardinal, the official students' publication at the university, has started a campaign to get students acquainted at the university. In an editorial announcement of its campaign it deprecates the attitude of some students never speaking to another unless formally introduced and suggests that each student greet those whose faces are familiar every morning with a "good-morning."

"As soon as you get a man's features fixed in your memory speak to him," says the editorial. "And you Wisconsin women. Why hesitate in bowing to a classmate whom you feel is a nice fellow unless you have gone through that 'pleased to meet you' process? How trivial it is anyhow! If you but knew the happiness let into a lonely freshman's heart by an easily given bow and smile from you. We brag about our Wisconsin democracy. Actions speak louder than words. We'll start it. LOCAL BREWERS
OFF TO EASTERN
U. S. CONVENTION

Carl F. Michel of the Michel Brewing company and Henry Gund of the Gund brewery will represent La Crosse at the annual meeting of the United States Brewers' association at Springfield, Mass. The local men left Tuesday for Springfield, with a number of other Wisconsin brewers. Gustave Pabst of Milwaukee, who was with the party that left Milwaukee today, is considered the most likely candidate for president of the association.

The official Badger delegates to the convention include Henry Gund, Fred Rahr, Green Bay; Robert Uhllein and Ernest Mueller, Milwaukee. It is hard to gain anything in some of the so-called gainful occupations.

Virginian Was First Lover Of
Mrs. Norman Galt

ASHLAND, Ky., Oct. 13.—At Barboursville, W. Va., just across the state line from here, lives F. J. Updike, leading merchant of the town who modestly confesses he was the first sweetheart of Mrs. Norman Galt, fiancée of President Wilson.

Updike confessed it was a school days' romance. He said he carried her books and lunch basket, and generally constituted himself "lord and protector" of the little miss. However, he said that the future first lady of the land did not give him much encouragement and when he brought her red apples to school, he put them on her desk when she was not looking.

All this happened while they lived at Wytheville, Va. Updike says that although the romance vanished, he has never forgotten the rosy cheeked "little girl."

High School Haps

The first regular meeting of the Parents' and Teachers' association for the school year 1918-19 will be held in the high school auditorium on Thursday evening. As has been customary with the first meeting of the year, there will be no formal program other than reports on the work of the past year and the election of officers for the coming year.

There are many parents interested in the high school for the first time this year, also several new teachers. The meeting will afford opportunity for all to get acquainted. All parents are urged to attend. The officers of last year are: C. H. Schweizer, president, and Mrs. C. H. Pierce, secretary.

Several Sparta teachers were visiting the school on Monday, their high school being closed for installation of heating apparatus.

Football is not the only athletic attraction at the high school. About fifteen fellows are on the floor daily in basketball togs. Although many good men are on the football field, a fast basketball team has already been developed.

Miss Cotton, the popular English teacher, is slowly recovering from illness at her home in Eau Claire. She will probably not be able to get back this semester. Miss Streeter is taking her place.

5 Women
Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HODGDON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Me.

2. SHELBYVILLE, KY.—"I suffered from a severe female trouble. My right side hurt me badly—it was finally decided that I must be operated upon. When my husband learned this he got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking it a few days I got better and continued to improve until I am now well."—Mrs. MOLLIE SMITH, R.F.D., Shelbyville, Ky.

3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2437 East William Street, Decatur, Ill.

5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, O.
